Day ???, Week ???

[Blank Screen]

INSERT 1: Our four intrepid birds shuffle out of the factory doors. The day is finally done. They walk on, shuffling, not speaking, slowly making their way to a small square near the trolley station.

[Slide: Trolley Station]

INSERT 2: From their backs and wings, they disassemble the intricate scaffolding of the day's war-like activities. They break down this fearsome weaponry into its unassuming constituents—metal, glass, and glowing rock—and it is carefully packed away.

[Slide: POV from Trolley Station]

INSERT 3: So too the spirits of our heroes dissolve and reamerge. They settle in against the backdrop of the city, tired but reborn into the late afternoon. One bird slowly and quietly whistles a melody, the middle passage of a familiar song. Another pair chats about the day's demons. The fourth gazes at the trolley, then back at the factory, then down an unfamiliar glistening alley:

[Slide: Close up of the Four]

DIALOGUE: What should we do?

{CHOICE 1:}

-“I want to be around my fellow birb” Social House (activity A)

-“I’m feeling like a Wild Jay Bird, I bet there are dice to be played down there.” Down the Alley (activity C)

-Library “What was the symbol imprinted on the jelly demon, that looked familiar” (activity D)

-Home “I’m so tired” (no activity)

[EXAMPLE: activity A]

[Slide: Bar Entrance]

Birb One: Oh this is the place! My lads, let's get slAAAWWWshed.

Birb Two: Caution, my new friend. We do have to work tomorrow

Birb 3: What about no less than 2, but no more than 4.

Birb 4: I hear the fulgerite makes you a cheap drunk....

Birb One: Killjoys [smiling] ok let's go in.

[Slide: Inside Bar]

{CHOICE 2}

-Talk to some random Birb

-Order a drink, talk to the bartender

-Tell the bartender the "password", to be let in back to the....well, what's even back there?

{LAST CALL}

INSERT: The central clock chimes the night shift hour. The Four glance at each other.

Birb 1: Nooooo

Birb 2: Yes

Birb 1: Why must you be this way?

Birb 3: C'mon "lads" [does air quotes with wings], let's get on the trolly-going EAST, to H-O-M-E.

Birb 4: Can we reach consensus....

SKETCHES:

<Zikora introduces the South Street Boys>

Zikora, and Greg are approached by three archmages from Ocanande

Arudow: So good to see you again, chief!

Zikora: Quite delightful indeed! I think some formal introductions are in order. Gentlemen, this is my new lieutenant, Greg!

Greg: Hello. Zikora's spoken quite highly of you. I assume you are Arudow?

Arudow: Mos' people around here call me Mr. Fixit. Because I fix things. Dis here is Vritak, but he usually goes by Mr. Tumtum

Vritak thumps his enormous belly

Vritak: Dat's cuz I got real big bones

Arudow: And last, but certainly not least, is Gritak. But we usually call him 'Boombox'. If all goes well, you won't have to find out why.

<Zikora Involves the Nordvikens>

Zikora, Birrak, Greg, Arudow, Vritak, and Gritak are in an indoor meeting

Zikora: Take this to the Nordvikens. And your discretion is a greater priority than your speed. The closer that corporate is linked to them, the more of a headache it'll become.

Greg: Understood.

Greg exits with the package

Vritak: 'Tch!

Vritak angrily thumps some furniture, breaking it

Birrak: That cost THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS!

Arudow: Don't worry 'bout it! I'll take care of the bill.

Birrak: What's his problem, anyway?

Zikora: Ah! Well, involving such characters as the Nordvikens will never sit well with our good Mister Tumtum.

Birrak: Such characters? I'm not sure I follow?

Vritak: An' what's that question s'pposed to mean?

Vritak turns around to face Birrak.

Vritak: Youse wouldn't be makin' implications on us, eh? Thinkin' we's all the same on accounnof us and them both doin' some violence work? Eh?

Birrak narrows his eyes, but before he can retort, Arudow intercedes

Arudow: My good sir, please understand! Youse would wound us if you was to associate those guys with me and my boys. We might both be immigrants who work a lil' heavy, but that's all. They's a buncha no-good crooked racketeers. We's legitimate businessmen in the security industry. You won't find any criminal records for us.

Birrak: When did I say otherwise?

Vritak: Well, what else would youse be tryin' ta hint at?

Birrak: I mean, for all I knew, it could be some racial thing between you and them. I dunno if Ocanande and Koojit have any history.

Vritak: Oh! Yeah that too. Everybody knows you can't trust them Koojit birbs.

Birrak: ...huh

Zikora: Delightfully solved! Now, onto the next matter at hand...

RANDOM CONCEPTS, IDEAS, AND QUESTIONS:

IDEA

-There are analogues for Christianity, Judaism, and Islam in Birdsong.

QUESTION

-The calendar commonly used by Birbs has a basic equivalence to 'like the Gregorian calendar, but, minus 1350'. Is this because of plague?

-Do the characters meet Rrajak early? When do they meet him?

-What preconceived notions do each character (especially the protagonists) have? How might they change?
